ISSUE SPRING 2024

Houghton University - Arena Footing Support

Our good friends at the Houghton University Equestrian Center need our help to raise $55,000 to upgrade their outdoor competition arena base and footing. This important project involves taking the arena down to its base, fixing drainage issues, and releveling the footing to ensure the arena can continue to support top-quality competitions moving forward.

If you are interested in making a gift to this important project, please give directly to Houghton University through an online gift: <https://community.houghton>. (click "Other" and then write: Equestrian Outdoor Arena Project.) The goal is to have funding in place by Friday, April 19 so the work can be completed ahead of the upcoming show season (including the first recognized show in late May/early June).

If you have any questions or need additional information about making a gift, please contact Larissa Ries (814.932.0185, or email Larissa.ries@houghton.edu). Thank you for your consideration!

WNDYA FALL SYMPOSIUM 2024 with Krysti Wysocki

“How To Address Different Conformations When Training The Dressage Horse”

October 19/20, 2024

Kristi Wysocki's deepest passion is horses. She loves sharing her knowledge with others, no matter their experience. Her understanding and dedication of dressage are unparalleled. Kristi left her engineering career in the oil industry over 25 years ago to pursue her passion as a dressage rider. She is an international FEI 4* dressage judge and FEI 5* para dressage judge. She is also a USEF licensed Dressage Sport Horse Breed Judge. She has a reputation as being both empathetic and fair when judging at any level. She has been appointed to the 2024 Paris Para Olympic Dressage Judge's Panel. She has judged CDIs and CPEDs in the U.S., Europe, Russia, Australia, New Zealand, India, Mexico, Canada, and Central/South America. This includes two World Championships for para dressage.

She has judged the U.S. Dressage Festival, Young Horse Championships and USDF National Championships on numerous occasions along with many USDF Regional Championships over the years. She has officiated at many of the USDF Breeder Series Finals including Devon since 2002.

She has trained and taught dressage since 1989. For several years she also ran an equine rehabilitation center for horses recovering from injuries. Kristi teaches clinics, symposiums and seminars both in the U.S. and internationally. She also teaches both lessons and seminars via virtual options. She has a passion for education for herself, her students, and the horses.

Her engineering background, sport horse breeding and rehabilitation experience make her uniquely qualified to analyze training, soundness and developmental issues related to the horse's individual conformation and movement. She can help riders work through otherwise limiting factors to excel in the sport. She also specializes in helping riders work through fear, self-confidence and self-doubt issues that often arise in riding. Through her extensive training in this area, she is better able to help her students in the “heat of the moment”. One of her students recently stated “She doesn't just teach me how, she also teaches me Why!”

Over the past few years, Kristi has expanded her local training program, by developing comprehensive day clinics where she works with riders and trainers as a team. Through this ongoing training program, Kristi works in partnership with these teams so they can reinforce the lessons between training sessions. The program has been extremely well received by both riders and trainers in her area.

Recently, Kristi has developed a comprehensive online education platform that is geared to provide dressage and equine enthusiasts with greater access to education from their own homes at their own convenience. With her wealth of expertise and experience, she enhances her students' abilities to give them greater insights with their equine partners. Her first online course “Why Conformation and Movement Matter when Buying, Breeding and Training Dressage Horses” has been a huge success. She has also presented a Master Class on the Training Scale, and interviews with Stephen Clarke, Sabine Schut-Kery and Hilda Gurney. Her fun, short training videos on facebook have been a big hit for entertainment, but more important – education.

GRATITUDE

A huge Thank You goes out to our generous donors who have aided the efforts of the educational events in our area.

Cayuga Dressage & Combined Training Club (CDCT), our sister GMO, graciously donated $1,000 towards our fall Symposium with Jaqueline Brookes.

Amy Winnen generously covered all of the overnight accommodations for our clinician.

Deb Kondoff, DVM, who donated rider welcome bags and raffle bags for the symposium, and;

Our numerous volunteers who helped to make this all happen. We also would love to thank all of our membership for those who donate in any capacity, large or small. We cannot fund these events without the efforts and generosity of many.

Thank you!
